The Rebbe Called Out

The Rosh Yeshiva Says:

A Yid once came to the Rebbes Tisch, and the Rebbe called out, "How can someone be sitting here with bad thoughts!". The Rebbe got up and went into his room. The Rebbe said I'm not speaking about someone from here, and someone from there, listing all cities in Ukraine except for the place where this Yid was from. This person started to cry and ran to the Rebbes door and said Rebbe, Rebbe I will start to be good. What was the story with this man? Right before he left his house he was fighting with his wife. By the Rebbe, Shalom Bayis was the most important thing.

Chazak, Chazak

The Rosh Yeshiva Says:

Rashi says that 'Im Bechukoisai Teleichu' is referring to learning Torah. This week we are going to be saying Chazak Chazak, yet whoever has not completed being Maaver Sedrah on Sefer Vayikrah should not say Chazak Chazak rather Chozek Chozek! Mohorosh related that when the holy Tzadik Reb Mordechai Nadvornier came to Chust, the Rosh Yeshiva invited him to come see his Yeshiva. When he came he said the boys don't have Yiras Shamayim because they are not Maaver Sedra. We see from this story that if you are not Maaver Sedra, where is your Yiras Shamayim?

I've Sinned So Much

The Rosh Yeshiva Says:

The main thing is we need to believe what the Rebbe said in (Lekutei Mohoran 2:112), that when we think to ourselves, 'What's going to be with me?' I've sinned so much, I've done so much nonsense, then the Rebbe said, that if you believe that you have done wrong and have been foolish, then you must believe that you can fix it all. We need to completely believe this, because this is the only way we can continue on. Beg Hashem that you want to be Ehrlich and holy.

Make Amends and Rebuild

The Rosh Yeshiva Says:

Be strong and do not despair. With the Rebbe's Eitzos, it's possible to escape from all problems. First of all, internalize the concept of Shikcha - forgetfulness. The Rebbe said in (Sichos Haran 26), "The world views forgetfulness as a flaw, but I consider it a virtue. If a person would always remember everything he did, he would be plagued by thoughts of past misdeeds and unable to serve Hashem. Listen to the Rebbe and give yourself a fresh start; don't let thoughts of your past hinder your success and happiness. Thank Hashem that you merited a wife and children and focus on how you can make amends and rebuild.

The Strength of Torah

The Rosh Yeshiva Says:

The Rebbe gave us advice, easy advice, sweet advice. The Rebbe says in (Sichas Haran 19), "Even someone who is very far away from holiness, he does Aveiros and is lying in the bottom of the pit, if he will set a time for himself to learn a certain amount every day, in the end he will get out of the mud, because the strength of Torah is so great that it takes a person out of his bad ways.

The Mitzvah of Happiness

The Rosh Yeshiva Says:

Mohorosh related of the Chabad Chusid Reb Mendel Futerfast, who while he was unfortunately in Siberia for many years he lost everything. Every Yom Tov he wanted to perform the Mitzvos properly but he didn't have the means to do any of the Mitzvos. He thought to himself that I didn't have a Shofar for Rosh Hashanah, and I didn't have a Sukkah or Lulav and Esrog for Sukkos but the Mitzvah of Simcha I can have! It says in the Torah that on Sukkos we must be happy. People think that if I lost everything then I have nothing left, yet happiness, we can always have. Be happy that you are a Yid, and that we have Hashem.
